Floor Plan

About This Workspace

Your own door onto Threadneedle Street, 50 meters from the Bank of England. The ground floor is double height and opens straight off the pavement; the lower ground and a small basement sit beneath it, all self-contained with your own WCs. A period building of ground and four upper floors, recently refurbished, with cycle storage and a shower. Bank station is three minutes on foot, Liverpool Street, Monument and Cannon Street five. The double-height ground floor is the part that gets photographed; the lower ground is where the quiet work gets done. Right for a firm that wants both.
